OLD FOLK DAY.

Day has recently become an established custom of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, on Fourth street southeast. One Sunday in each October is set apart for services to be made particularly interesting to the aged members of the church, who, because of their

With an unusually appropriate and impressive programme of song and prayer, all day school girl, who eloped from a boarding | yesterday was devoted entirely to the reviving of these spiritual associations so blessed the services, crowding the church beyond its seating capacity. The majority of the old folks walked, some by themselves, some in couples, some supported by the arms of friends or relatives, and some plodding their weary way assisted by a cane or crutch. Those to whom the exertion of walking was too severe were brought in carriages kindly loaned for the purpose by residents in the vicinity of the church.

A delegation of six inmates from the Methodist Home was driven over to the church to participate in the exercises. The principal part of the services took place in the morning at 11 o'clock. After the congregational singing of the hymn "O, for a Thousand Tongues to Sing "prayer was offered up. Following." to Sing," prayer was offered up. Following this an enthem, "Jerusalem," was rendered by the choir and orchestra and then a Scripture lesson was read. Inspired with the determination to lift up the soils of the aged congregation, Mrs. Ada Ober Lesch sang a

"Amid all the persecutions of the ancients, religion has lived and triumphed, and is found brighter, more buoyant, and more hopeful. The influence of God is unseen. The unseen seed of the fruit is most strengthening, so the unseen power of God sustains man when in his weakest condition. In death, in affliction in proceed, in all discouraging and when in his weakest condition. In death, in affiliction, in poverty, in all discouraging and disheartening circumstances, where do we find relief but in the grace of God?"

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock the auditorium of the church was again crowded. An old-fashioned love feast was held, led by Rev. Mr. Brown and Rev. M. F. B. Rice. D.
